Premier Roblin Predicts Defeat of Government.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, expresses the belief that Mr. L. Borden will be carried into power by a good majority, irrespective of the number of seats that the Conservative leader may receive in the Province of Quebec. The premier of the province, previous to his departure to-day for Halifax, gave out the following figures as his estimate of Conservative strength in the next house of commons. Mr. Roblin said that Mr. Borden would carry 68 out of the 80 Ontario divisions, a solid 7 from British Columbia, 8 out of 10 from Manitoba, 1 in the Yukon, 5 out

Fireman Scott Killed at Blackfalds.

A fatal accident occurred at the gravel pit at Blackfalds on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, when a young man named Albert Scott, of Calgary, met with a horrible death by the big mogul engine 1341 tipping over and falling on him, crushing him to death. The engine had to make a smart run to get out of the pit with the load, and there was a sharp curve at the foot of the grade, and the engine got off the rails and fell on its side, pinning the young man underneath. The engineer, Oscar England, escaped unhurt as he was thrown from the upper side of the cab. The auxiliary was wired for to Red Deer and in fifteen minutes was ready, and in some twenty-four minutes was on the spot. But the young man's lifeless body had been taken out before the train arrived. Dr. Parsons thought the young man could not have breathed after the engine fell on him.

The body was brought to Stone's undertaking parlors and an inquest held on Friday. It was adjourned to Monday to visit the scene, and completed yesterday morning. After hearing evidence from Dr. Parsons, W. A. Begg, conductor; Oscar England, engineer; M. A. McDonald and M. Hoffman, brakemen; Geo. Bell, roadmaster; J. H. Little, foreman in charge of work at pit, and R. Johnson, extra gang foreman, the jury brought in the following verdict: That said Albert Scott came to his death from the overturning of engine No. 1341, while attempting to escape through the window of the cab of the said engine, and from the evidence produced the jury exonerate the employees engaged at the gravel

Is The Embargo on Canadian Cattle
Going to be Removed?

The agitation in favor of its removal grows in strength in the Old Country, and Mr. Asquith has shown some signs of yielding—at least he has stated that, provided that the cattle could be admitted without risk, he would favor their admission. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, however, is evidently not very sanguine. He has repeated the assertion that there was absolutely no danger in Canadian cattle being admitted, and that the cattle were free from infectious diseases; but he would not trust himself to say more than that "if the Prime Minister of England has expressed himself that way, we will take note of what he said. If anything can be done, it will be done." In the meantime the editors of three Canadian papers have been protesting in the London Press against the embargo. One of them says, "The embargo against Canadian cattle is bitterly resented, not because it is a measure of protection, but because it falsely charges Canadian cattle with being diseased." Another says, "Canadians who have given a preferential tariff would have a sentimental appreciation of the removal greater even than of its mere material benefit here." Unfortunately for the success of the agitation, Mr. Asquith is, from another quarter, pressed not to remove the embargo. The Irish members of the British House of Commons say very plainly that if the embargo were removed, it would land Ireland in bankruptcy. It is curious to note how professed free traders, as the Irish members are, can be rank protectionists on occasions. It seems that it is heresy to wish to keep out, by a small tariff, foreign-made goods that compete with British, but perfectly right to keep out Canadian cattle because they may lessen the value of Irish cattle.

The Elections.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—(Special).—It is positively asserted that the government has definitely decided on Tuesday, Nov. 3, as the date of the general elections.

A well informed politician who made this statement adds that the formal announcement will be made before Sir Wilfrid leaves on his Ontario tour, unless the premier should decide to make it himself at the meeting at Niagara on Sept. 15.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—No official information as to the exact date of the election is yet available, but it is practically certain that the day selected for polling will be either Wednesday, Oct. 28 or Thursday, Oct. 29. Good progress has been made with printing voters' lists and the secretary of the department is now sending them out to various constituencies as rapidly as possible.

Sir Wilfrid expects to return to Ottawa for Wednesday next, when a cabinet meeting will be held which will probably be followed by announcement of dissolution.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Conservative Leaders Busy.—Sir Wilfrid and the Provincial Premiers.

POOR MR. PUGSLEY, LIKE "WHIPPED SPANIEL," GROWS FIERCE AT A SAFE DISTANCE.

With the prospect of an election at the end of October or the beginning of November, the Conservatives have begun a vigorous and aggressive campaign. Mr. Borden took a short rest, after which he returned to Ottawa and attended to various matters of organization and is now addressing meetings in Nova Scotia. From there he will move westward, speaking in all the provinces east of Manitoba. Mr. Monk and other Quebec leaders have addressed meetings in their own province and throughout the country. Other Conservative leaders and members are at work in their own districts. Mr. Foster has held eleven remarkably successful meetings in the three Eastern provinces, and is to speak during the next two or three weeks in Ontario. Mr. Ames has gone all through the West with his campaign against the spoils and plunderers of the public domain in that country, thus accepting the challenge to make his charges in the places where the transactions occurred and where the land and timber grafters are known.

PROVINCIAL LEADERS.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier can thank himself for the appearance of provincial premiers and ministers with Mr. Borden at his future meetings. Among these will be Sir James Whitney, when he returns from England, and some of his ministers in the meantime: Mr. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba; Mr. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick; and Mr. McBride of British Columbia. Sir John Macdonald was not disposed to mix himself in the provincial politics. Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Blake took the same view. But Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into office by an alliance with provincial premiers, three of whom he took into his ministry. He has thrown the whole federal influence into every provincial contest since he became premier, declaring that the late Ontario Government was the right arm, and Premier Parent's administration the left arm of his own ministry. Sir Wilfrid's right arm was neatly amputated three years ago by the people of Ontario. He lost his left by a revolt among the Quebec friends. But every Conservative provincial victory has been obtained against all the power that the federal administration could exert.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT.
When Sir Wilfrid took office he had at his back the solid support of all the Provincial Governments from the Atlantic to the prairies. First he lost Manitoba, then Ontario, then New Brunswick. A straight Conservative Government has taken the place of a mixed organization in British Columbia. To-day more than half of the people in Canada are under Conservative Provincial Governments. Those of Ontario, British Columbia and New Brunswick have been established since Sir Wilfrid last appeared in the province. He has made it impossible for these administrations to be neutral in the coming fight. Moreover, the Premier will find that the various machines which in times past manipulated ballots and stole elections will no longer have the protection of the Department of Justice in the province where they have carried on their most successful operations. Twice since 1904 the people of Ontario have condemned and sentenced this machine and the party to which it belonged. When Sir Wilfrid starts out this month on his Ontario tour he will find some vacant chairs where men high in provincial positions used to sit around him. It is true that he has taken the discredited Premier into the Senate, and one member of the condemned government into his cabinet, that he has made another a judge and one a governor, and still another a royal commissioner. That does not offset what the people have done. It only shows that Sir Wilfrid is not on the side of the people.

A LOAD TO CARRY.
Sir Wilfrid is further embarrassed with the presence in his cabinet of the chief personage of the late New Brunswick Government, which last March went down in disgrace before an indignant population, and has been still further discredited by disclosures made since in the examination of the public accounts. Probably there was never in an organized community outside of South America, Turkey or Egypt such a record of private dealings with public funds. Ministers used the public treasury as a private bank, drawing money when they needed it, paying part of it back when they were in funds, and then drawing more at election times. These transactions never appeared in the public accounts, and it was not until the Government was overthrown and auditors appointed that the public came to understand what a "suspense account" meant in New Brunswick finance. Mr. Pugsley is busy explaining that he gave value in extra services for all the overplus which he has returned to the treasury since the change of government. Some of these were rendered eight or ten years ago and were supposed to be secured for him. Most people thought they were excessively rewarded at the time, seeing that Mr. Pugsley with a nominal salary of $2,100, was in the habit of drawing $9,000 to $10,000 a year from the treasury for legal services.

RATHER COWARDLY.
Just before Parliament met last November, Mr. Pugsley, speaking in New Brunswick, made certain charges against Mr. Borden in regard to campaign funds. When the House met he was challenged to make his charges there to Mr. Borden's face. Among others who made this challenge was Mr. A. E. Kemp, of Toronto. It came naturally from him, because Mr. Pugsley's attack on Mr. Borden was in the form of a reply to statements made in the Toronto press. Mr. Kemp. When Mr. Kemp faced Mr. Pugsley in the House he said among other things:

"The Hon. Gentleman (Mr. Pugsley) has resorted to the lowest sort of a campaign in this matter. He has gone before public meetings of his partisan supporters and has made statements which I challenge him to make in this House face to face with us. Now I hope that the Minister of Public Works will deem it his duty to make good what he has stated outside of the House. If the Hon. Gentleman refuses to go further, if he is satisfied with his insinuations in a way he has done outside of this House without taking pains to make his position good, I cannot but feel that he is condemned before the country for making statements which he knew were not true. Sir, he has talked of these things on the hustings, but he has sat in this House like a whipped spaniel not daring to open his mouth. He is now at the bar of public opinion and let him choose his course."

Mr. Pugsley continued to sit like a whipped spaniel during the seven months of the session, and though repeatedly challenged made no attempt to substantiate in Mr. Borden's presence what he said about him when Mr. Borden was 3,000 miles away. But, strange to say, on the second political meeting which the minister addressed in his own province after the session was over, he returned to the old slanders, and only explained his silence in the House by saying that Mr. Kemp was unworthy of his attention, though it was the same Mr. Kemp whose remarks called forth Mr. Pugsley's original statements.

LIBEL SUITS THAT FAILED.
It may be further remembered that when Mr. Pugsley made his first charge, a Toronto newspaper pointed out that Mr. Pugsley himself had been accused of conspiring a few years before for the overthrow of the Laurier Government, which he was then pretending to support. Mr. Pugsley at once gave notice of a libel suit, which the paper welcomed as likely to throw some light on a mysterious chapter of Canadian political history. Mr. Pugsley never proceeded with this suit, nor with any others that he threatened. It was Mr. Pugsley, who as Mr. Emmerson's adviser, instituted proceedings for criminal libel in the "wine, women and graft" affair. That suit also collapsed, together with three civil libel suits instituted in the same matter. Mr. Pugsley suddenly appearing afterwards as Mr. Emmerson's successor in the ministry.

A BAD PLACE FOR HIM.
In the present state of the Dominion finances, and in view of the grotesque financial methods of the Pugsley administration in regard to the public accounts, that Mr. Pugsley should have charge of one of the great spending departments of the Canadian Government. Enough was discovered last session in dredging out the accounts to show that this minister is an easy mark for contractors. That was illustrated in new contracts given on the lakes.

It was also found that one dredging company, working in St. John Harbour, in ten months received $375,000, and it was stated on good authority that $100,000 of this covered all operating expenses, $150,000 purchased and repaired the dredge, leaving the company $125,000 profit and the dredge to the good. The chief member of this company is the son of a member of Parliament and obtained the contract without tender. Just now Mr. Pugsley finds it necessary to acquire for his party a newspaper in St. John, and it is a significant fact that the chief movers in that enterprise are men with dredging contracts. The sad result of Mr. Pugsley's interference with the last provincial election makes him anxious to gather in help from all sources for another sectional appeal.

WON'T USE THE ROSS RIFLE.
The Department of Militia recently announced that at last the whole militia force was to be armed with the Ross rifle. The militia men must take it whether they like it or not. But this week the D.R.A. matches are taking place, and the expert shots in the country are gathered at Rockfield. Here the men who shoot straight choose their own weapons. One goes a long way among them to find a Ross rifle in action, and those that are used in this contest are mostly found in the hands of marksmen in the service of the Ross Company. The militia men wish to keep up their record still use the English weapon, which did not cost so much money, but seems to satisfy the marksmen.

THE CASSELS INQUIRY.
Those gifted partisan lawyers who are assisting on behalf of the Government in the Cassels inquiry have been procuring testimony in Montreal to show that great improvements have been made in the lighting of the St. Lawrence. Some of the witnesses of the lighthouse board grew so enthusiastic that the Judge had to remind them that it was not the time for stump speeches. The question whether the St. Lawrence should be better lighted was not referred to this Commission, but the question whether there was dishonesty, extravagance and graft and lack of conscience in the department. It might be possible to make a good light service without paying a price of contracts for the sum of $2,000,000, and allowing them 1,000 per cent. profit.

MR. FISHER AND MR. FOSTER.
The Minister of Agriculture is evidently distressed over the success of Mr. Foster's meetings as compared with his own. Consequently Mr. Fisher took occasion at Lachine to accuse Mr. Foster of misusing the funds of the Foresters. The minister went so far as to suggest that if Mr. Foster had not done as he did the Foresters would not have needed to increase their assessments. He did not venture to put this falsehood in plain words, but preferred to convey the idea by insinuation. Mr. Fisher has had his chance during two sessions to discuss this insurance matter in the House in Mr. Foster's presence, but never spoke a word. He becomes suddenly bold at the party meeting in Argenteuil, where there was no reply. Mr. Fisher knows perfectly well that the change in the Foresters' assessment was made because the authorities decided that the rate was too low, and absolutely without regard to the result of past investments. He also knows that the Foresters' investments through the Union Trust Company, under Mr. Foster's management, were the most profitable that the Foresters ever made. He knows further that the society had ample security for every dollar of the loans which have been the subject of controversy, and that these investments brought large profits to the Foresters.

It would be a happy thing for Mr. Fisher if he had been able to handle his department as well as Mr. Foster managed the affairs of the Union Trust Company.

WORSE AND WORSE.
August returns show that the revenue continues to fall off. The shortage in customs revenue as compared with the previous year is over a million. Altogether the loss of revenue and increased expenditure make the situation two millions worse than in August, 1907, and for the five months of this fiscal year, ten millions worse than last year.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Poorly, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more vitality, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

INTERNAL GEAR

THIS GEAR GIVES INSTANT ACTION TO KNIVES

It starts them going at the same instant the blades power-wheel moves. Can't help it because the small pinion drives the pitman crank with that motion. A power's value lies in its power to cut grass—and cut it quickly and continuously with-out wear-down. That's where our No. 8 Mower proves its worth. This internal gear works smoothly transmits firm friction, and steady power to the pitman. It produces almost no vibration, and that suppression, vibration and pounding present in some mowers is absent. The is provided with ball and roller bearings wherever any wear occurs. So it will handle the heaviest lawns and rough ground at the factory that still it will be remarkably few the repairs. We can point to Frost & Wood Mowers made twenty years ago that are still cutting grass now. Our cutters are forged out of the longest steel possible. Pitman and jaws are forged steel. Pitman is made of tough, seasoned hickory. The corner foot and jaws lift raises the whole cutter-bar from end to end when passing stones or other obstructions.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16th, 1908. THE HERALD'S RAILWAY CRUSADE.

The Calgary Herald is making a most determined and persistent endeavor to stir the people up to the need of railways for Alberta. The Herald deserves considerable credit for its efforts, and the News is in full accord with its policy. Railways will make our province great. More railways in Alberta will open up to the world the finest tracts of country in the West. More railways are needed so that the farmer can reach his markets handily. A farmer more than twenty miles from a railway cannot afford to haul his grain to that railway for shipment. Railways every forty miles is what this country needs and we will then be the greatest province in Canada.

THE REASON WHY.

"Senator Talbot was in our midst Friday and met a number of political friends," says the Ponoka Herald. He also met the executive and arranged for the forthcoming election. Instead of being a dignified senator he is a common party hack. After one year's service as a member of the House of Commons he was elevated to the Senate, not because he was entitled to the position by any means, but because more men were wanted to do the dirty work of the Liberal party in the west, and as a reward for handing over Alberta's lands, our vast coal fields, the timber, and everything else, except the air we breathe, to the grafters at Ottawa. Senator Talbot, it is rumored, is not above getting hold of a big slice of the coal lands of the province for himself, and securing for his connections lands adjoining Lacombe, which should have gone to the hard working settler. It may be said that Talbot and the timber grafters and land sharks have a right to buy limits and lands and leases and mines, but it is the way it is done that convinces the people it is time for a change. A little dark room crowd meet in a sly way and fix up the nomination of a candidate that will do their bidding and be their tool in everything. A little coterie of timber barons ask for a vast section of country to be put up for auction in midwinter after they have spent all summer looking it over, while the average settler knows nothing of the deal. Political friends buy vast tracts of lands, but the department do not make them pay for it as the ordinary settler has to pay, but they are allowed to defer payment until they sell to other people at a vast increase, and pocket a big rake-off without paying out a cent. It is this sort of thing that makes the people say it is high time for a change.

THE FREE PRESS BARKS.

Some of the papers of Ontario, including the Sentinel, have lately published articles bearing on the question of autonomy and the great injustice done Alberta in 1905, and that the question was still a live issue. The Winnipeg Free Press snarls back at the eastern papers, as follows: "It would be an excellent thing for the country at large if the good people of Ontario would mind their own business. The provisions of the Autonomy Bill affect particularly the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The electors of Alberta had, in November, 1905, an opportunity of saying what they thought of these provisions, and they were as nearly unanimous as the people of a Province could be in declaring their approval of the legislation. Out of twenty-five members of the Legislature elected, only two were opposed to accepting the Alberta Act."

Who asked the Free Press,

pray, to speak for Alberta? If a plebiscite was taken of the voice of the people, without interference, in Alberta to-day, it would be largely in favor of Alberta controlling her own lands and minerals. It is the height of impudence for a Manitoba paper to presume to voice the sentiment of this province. It boasts of the Liberal majority. If a paltry 200 votes could be well placed the boasted majority of the Liberal party would be wiped out and the Conservative government be in power, so close was the contest in many constituencies, and this majority alone was easily made up of office holders and hangers-on. We wish to assure our friends in the East that we intend to fight still for our rights in Alberta up to the last ditch, and until our standard is planted on the battlements of the corrupt gang, and they are hurled from power, the yep of the Sifton-Burrows-Turiff organ to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Premier McBride, of British Columbia, than whom no man on the Pacific coast has a more intimate knowledge of the political feeling of that section of Canada, declares most emphatically that the people of his Province will no longer submit to the misrule and abject servility to the grafters which permeates the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that instead of a solid seven for the Liberals as in the present Parliament the next will consist of a solid seven for the Conservatives. Premier McBride should know whereof he speaks.

LIBERAL WANTS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier wants to be returned to power so he can complete his work. The St. John Sun wants Mr. Pugsley returned in order that the claims of St. John may be properly presented. Minister Graham wants all his old cronies in Ontario, including Jim Stratton, returned so they may do things as they did in the old Ontario Cabinet. Sifton wants Turiff, Burrows and the rest of the timber grafters returned, so they may gobble up all the timber that is left in the West. Phillip Wagner wants Hon. Frank Oliver returned, so he will not be out of a job. And so it goes.

Our contemporary devotes about four columns to telling its readers how the Ames charges have been smashed. Ames charges analysed, etc., etc. There is one thing the Advocate must remember and that is that the jury trying this case is the people and not the Winnipeg Free Press, the Sifton, Burrows, Turiff organ, and the Advocate. We feel that the people who heard Mr. Ames will give a good account of themselves on election day.

The Edmonton Saturday News claims to be an independent paper, still it defends the timber steals of the Liberal administration. It looks as though the News' stand on the Blairmore scandal was only a blind to impress the people with its independence as its present stand, and the exaggerated quantity of space it devotes to the question leads one to infer it is, on the eve of a general election, doing its utmost to have the crooked administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier returned to power.

The Advocate speaks of the Winnipeg Free Press, Clifford Sifton's paper, and the Independent Edmonton Saturday News as the two great exponents of Liberalism and smashers of the Ames charges. The Saturday News will we hope receive its promotion with all due modesty.

Years ago during the Reil rebellion the present premier of Canada was willing to shoulder his little gun on the banks of the Saskatchewan on behalf of the half-breed rebels who, he claimed, were deprived of their just rights. How things have changed. Now this same Sir Wilfrid Laurier deprives the west of all her lands, and her great heritage for all time to come, for a paltry annual remittance, and this to please the same people he was fighting for then, the people of Quebec.

The next House of Commons, it has been pointed out, will contain 221 members, and for the first time the representation of the extreme east and that of the extreme west will be precisely equal. Thus:

Nova Scotia	18
Prince Edward Island	4
New Brunswick	13
Manitoba	35
Saskatchewan	10
Alberta	10
British Columbia	7
Yukon	1
	35

Why do not the ministerial papers give the author of the citation from Canadian Courier. When all the party organs are so prompt to excuse an inexcusable action on the part of two western premiers, will no one put his name to the record for the machine phonograph? We suppose Canadian printers could not have obtained case making machines if an order had been received for hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of school books. It would perhaps have been impossible to get one of those paper manufacturers who produce such superior material for school books to open a plant in Canada where free pulp could be had, but a waiting order to furnish the paper for all the school readers of two provinces would have been a splendid inducement. After a decade in which the Canadian press has done nothing but laud the results of Canadian manufacture, it makes one shiver to be subjected to such a cold douche as our school books are, generally speaking vastly inferior to those made in the other two countries, viz. the U. S. and Great Britain.

The Moncton Times says:—
The purity movement is making progress. The liberal attorney-general of Nova Scotia winked at the disclosure of bribery and corruption in Halifax and Queens-Shelburne, but has been moved to join in the prosecution of Bayne in Colchester. Of course this is a result of the awakening brought about by the purity leagues and is not in any way due to the fact that Bayne worked in the Conservative interest while the Halifax and Queens-Shelburne corruptionists are of the Liberal stripe. Now that the attorney-general of Nova Scotia is alive to his duty, he should prove a terror to evil doers in elections.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier always was noted for his monumental conceit but his remark in his speech at Sorel a few days ago that in 1897 Canada was an insignificant colony forgotten by France hardly noticed by the rest of the world, and to-day it was the brightest jewel in the British Crown was the limit and is false and misleading. Canada was considered the leading colony of Great Britain in 1897 as she is to-day, and will continue to be after Sir Wilfrid has been gathered to his fathers.

The Calgary News says: "Red Deer constituency opened the campaign with the most noise of any riding in the province. Lately it has been so quiet one wonders whether Root and Clark are still in the fight or not."

We can assure the News Root is very much in it, and we now claim 500 as his majority.

The Eye Opener Scores The Cabinet.

Every little piece of work done by the Department of Public Works, such as a newly-graded piece of road built across a mud puddle, calls for a visit from the Premier, Cushing, Cross or Finlay, especially if it is a banquet. A banquet is framed up and the great work of the Public Works Department is expatiated upon, slopped over and praised up to the glory of God and Mr. Cushing, especially the latter. It has become very tiresome.

For instance, quite recently a small culvert across a wet place a few miles east of Morinville was built by the Department. It was completed the other day. Down came the whole cabinet in a body to formally open it. The little culvert measured about eighteen feet in length, though it is said by those who have seen it to be a very nice culvert, as culverts go.

Accompanied by the Liberal Executive, the cabinet members sallied forth in rigs into the country to open it. No camel case necessary in this case. They did so much chattering about the wonderful culvert along the road that they passed the culvert about a couple of miles—having driven over it without noticing—before discovering their mistake; whereupon they retraced their steps, keeping a careful look-out for the happy little culvert. Finally, an occupant of the foremost rig rose in his seat and pointed his finger excitedly toward a slightly raised object in the middle of the road, crying, "There it is! There it is!"

Then the members of the cabinet, the Morningside Liberal Executive and a bevy of government inspectors (principally weedy), to say nothing of eight or nine rigs full of hopeful office-seekers, descended to the ground and gazed with becoming gravity upon the structure. They all took off their hats.

One of the hopeful office-seekers, who had a bit of a jag on, approached the side of the culvert in a rather disrespectful manner and gave it a playful kick with his boot.

"Hail! Hail! Don't do that!" cried Cushing stepping forward hastily as if the whole structure was about to totter to its destruction. "You ought to know better than that! Man alive oh, well, I guess no damage has been done. We may as well proceed with the ceremony of opening the culvert. I take great pleasure in calling on the Premier." (Loud cheers from the hopeful office-seekers.)

Premier Rutherford stepped on to the sacred culvert, hat in hand, and said:

"Gentlemen, as there will be considerable speculifying at the banquet to be held tonight at the thriving village of Morningside, I shall simply open this beautiful culvert without further delay. 'Culvert,' consider yourself open." (Great cheering, amidst which they all piled into the rigs, and drove back to Morningside.)

That night everybody for miles around was at the banquet (which was provided by the Liberal Executive and cost the guests nothing) guzzling away to beat the band and throwing all the booze into themselves consistent with decency. Mr. Gogglehoopen-slosher, the well known breeder of polled muckracks, occupied the chair and distinguished himself by an inordinate capacity for bottled beer. After the usual preliminaries, the Premier arose and spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, it has afforded my colleagues and myself the greatest pleasure to come down for the opening ceremonies in connection with the opening of the beautiful, exquisite, and I might almost say, the thriving village of Morningside, myself—culvert erected in your vicinity by the Department of Public Works. (Hear, hear.) I have been much struck with the extraordinary advantages of this district, the grandeur of its landscape, its fertility, (cheers), its bucolicity, (applause), its fete champetre (more applause), its moribundity (great enthusiasm), its pro bono publico (prolonged cheering), to say nothing of the pale, opalesque mystery of its whiskey which diffuses its boozological rays throughout the Empire with a codgerosity and sophistication worthy of the founder of a great university.

Public Works, so ably presided over by my friend, Mr. Cushing. (Francic cheering, many standing on their chairs and waving their handkerchiefs.) Mr. Chairman, it was only at our last cabinet meeting that the Minister of Public Works turned to me with tears in his eyes and said, "Alexander, you may go down to posterity as the founder of a great university, but the name of Cushing, thank God! will live in honored and imperishable memory as the father of the Morningside culvert." Tremendous cheering, all eyes being turned on Old Cus. That is what he said, Mr. Chairman. But time goes on apace and there are other speakers. I will now make way for the Minister of Public Works." (Cheers.) Mr. Cushing, in proposing the most of everybody in general and nothing in particular, said:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, when I was called upon three years ago to take charge of the Department of Public Works I little dreamed that some day I should have the privilege, of which any British subject throughout His Majesty's domains might well be proud, of building a culvert in the vicinity of this great, thriving, and, I might almost say, astonishing village of Morningside. (Cheers.) I have always fancied Morningside. Many a time, on looking out of the car window, have I said to myself, 'Here would I wish to dwell, here would I wish to die.' (Hear, hear.) That noble bridge, small though it be, which was opened today by the Premier of this great province, was constructed by the engineering department on the cantilope principle, and may be called a cantilope culvert. It is the only cantilope culvert in existence. (Loud cheers.) It will go thundering through the ages as the fifth-ninth culvert erected in the province of Alberta by my department, and will go cackling along the corridors of time as a symbol of the high esteem, admiration, veneration and gesticulation felt by the members of this government for the lofty, noble, magnanimous, spiritual-minded, semi-intoxicated denizens of Morningside and the constituency of which she forms an integral part. Gentlemen, I thank you." (Tremendous applause.)

Attorney-General Cross spoke briefly, dwelling on the political aspect of culverts in general. He said that every culvert had its political side, especially this one, because the Morningside district had given the government but a bare majority last election. There were no doubt many improvements desired in this vicinity. These, however, would probably have to be postponed until the return from the various polls at the next election were examined by the proper officials. He thought Morningside the flower of Alberta. (Loud cheers.)

Hon. Mr. Finlay then proceeded to give an hour's dissertation on the fattening of muckracks, after which the banquet broke up. A pleasant time was had.

The cabinet caught the midnight train for the north, in order to be present at the celebrations attending the filling up of a slough on Section 12, Township 4-11-44, by the Department of Public Works, on the farm of Tony Lumkin, who has control of innumerable German votes in and around Vegreville.

Council Meeting.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Town Council was held Thursday evening last. Acting Mayor T. A. Gaetz, in the chair, with Councillors Botterill, Pidgeon, Tallman and McKee in attendance.

A petition was received from Mr. Reid and other ratepayers Morrison street asking for a sidewalk from Gaetz avenue east.

Referred to commissioners to report thereon.

Randall Gae and Mitchell, of Edmonton, wrote for information re mill property. Filed.

A communication was read from the Commissioner of Emigration stating the Scotch Agriculturalists would not reach Red Deer until Sunday morning, Sept. 21, at 4 o'clock, and would leave on Sunday noon's train. It was hoped the visitors would be met and entertained.

Councillors McKee and Tallman reported that the gentlemen visiting Red Deer on Sunday and said so far as they were concerned they would not entertain them. Red Deer was the only place scheduled for Sunday on the trip.

It was decided to have the secretary communicate with them and try to have them stop over to Monday noon.

Western General Electric Company wrote re. light account. Filed.

Several letters were received and read re. debentures.

D. Caldwell wrote from Wetaskiwin for information re. mill property. Filed.

R. L. Gaetz and others on Park street desired sewer connection and petitioned the council for the same. No action taken.

Dr. John Collich, Medical Health Officer, drew attention to the overflow of refuse from drain at creamery. A cesspool was recommended.

J. C. Patterson, of Edmonton County, wrote to the council for information re. mill property. Filed.

The Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs wrote announcing their annual convention at Victoria, B. C., from Sept. 23 to Oct. 1, and asking that Fire Chief McKee be allowed to attend.

A number of accounts were ordered to be paid, among them being: Western General Electric Co., lighting, $44.05; G. Percy Blythe, audit, $23.15; P. W. Galtbrith, advertising by mail, $25.32; Winnipeg Rubber Co., $10.54; Copeland Chatterton Co., account forms, $25.25; salaries, office supplies, $540; time sheet, August, $30.50; W. Springbrink, blacksmith, $11.85.

COMMISSIONERS REPORT.

The receipts and disbursements for the month of August have been tabulated and are presented herewith. No reply has been received from the Western General Electric Co. to the offer of the Town to purchase their plant.

The matter of the mill is unchanged. We have written to the Calgary Milling Co. and to the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co. to see if they will consider a proposition to rent the elevator and flat warehouse, as it is necessary to have these open this fall if possible, and it does not appear probable that the mill can be operated this fall from the attitude the Stratford Mill Building Co. and the Canadian Milling Co. have taken.

Foreman Millin reported that the Western General Co. had closed off the drain from the creamery. We inspected this with the Medical Health Officer and found the drain had been diverted so that the drainage would go close to the waterworks intake. We will take the matter up with the Secretary of the Creamery Co. at once to have this corrected so that no possible contamination of the water supply can occur.

Special constable Halstead had a man summoned for throwing stones at the fountain in the park after being warned previously not to repeat the offence. He was fined $7.50 including costs.

The sewer on Blower Street to the laundry is being laid rapidly. It should be completed by the 17th inst. at the present rate of progress.

The Commissioners met the License and Police Committee on the 3rd inst. and decided to put Chief Rothnie on night duty for the present. Fire Chief McKee was put on day police duty.

We visited the cemetery lately to look over the work done there. The work had been done in and around the roads on the west half cleared, disced and harrowed, the gates moved to the centre of the south side, the posts put in along this side and culverts put in across the ditch.

The grounds are now in good shape and it is hoped the members of the Council will visit the cemetery at their earliest convenience and see what improvements have been made. In laying out the roads it was discovered that some fences encroach on the road and some on other lots. It will be necessary to have these adjusted, and it would also be advisable to have all wooden fences removed from the lots. This will considerably improve the appearance of the grounds and might be done early in the spring.

The report was adopted.

Councillor Tallman drew attention to the stagnant water near the Great West Hotel, and said if possible it should be drained off.

Councillor McKee spoke of the sidewalk sinking in front of Mr. Jarvis' property on Gaetz Avenue. The committee will attend to the matter.

Councillor Botterill said Superintendent Niblock of the C.P.R., was pleased with the Red Deer park and thought cutting the outside grass would improve matters. He would give the town 500 trees next year to plant in and around the park.

In reply to Councillor Botterill, Secretary McKee and Stephenson assured the Council that an engineer's report had been furnished regarding the re-building of the Rice block before the building permit was issued.

Council adjourned.

Don't Neglect Your Fire Guards.

The Chief Fire Guardian reports that the heads of eighty contributions have been received by the R.N.W.M.P. and Fire Guardians under the Prairie Fires Ordinance since the first of January. Owing to the number of fires and the great amount of damage caused thereby it is hoped that settlers, campers and sportsmen will use every precaution to prevent the spread of fire. The Department recommends that every farmer and rancher construct fire guards around buildings and stacks by ploughing to a width of not less than twenty feet, the wider the guard the better. Do not attempt to guard property by burning a guard without having the space to be burned surrounded by a ploughed guard of not less than twenty feet in width, otherwise the party so doing will be liable to prosecution for infraction of the Ordinance.

Joseph Slade showed us a cauliflower last week that would be hard to beat. It weighed nine pounds, and as the retail price of cauliflowers is 10 cents a pound, this head would be worth 90 cents alone. Mr. Slade says he never saw a better head.

The ladies of Pine Lake will give a garden party and fete in the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Charley on Thursday, September 17th. There will be games, ice cream and candy stores and other amusements for young and old. Tea and refreshments free to all. Tickets of admission, 25 cents each. All are cordially invited.

A SONG OF CONTENTMENT.

In the stuff that once was current in the magazines of rot to midday we could reach heights from which the world's successes seemed to pour and sweat and preach. We were taught that careful saving of pennies was the thing; We would cut out all the frivolous youth should never have his fling. Grind and grub and grub and grind—these were sure to win the race. But today we learn that riches are a terrible disgrace.

Once the man who made some money was considered to have done something worthy emulation by the other fellow's son; Once we learned that little Willie, who refused to go and play, But would rather stick to business, was the hero of the day. In the mottoed books they loaned us from the libraries of yore, Now he'd better be a horse thief or a bandit, don't you know, Than a tight waist sitting watching for his bank account to grow.

"A pleasant change, I take it, for beneath the old regime. Though I grieved for glory's glamour, I could never grab a gleam. Something told me I should not, although I best Methuselah's time. Make a fortune—I'm delighted they've discovered it's a crime. Now, when I am broke and abject, when I owe my every friend Wit, when I am prone to borrow, was so careless as to lend. I shall swell with conscious righteousness, a specific cause of which is the thought, 'I know I'm honest, 'cause I kept from getting rich.'"

—Strickland W. Gillilan in Judge.

Mutual Recognition.

An orator and lawyer who lives at Galesburg, Ill., wrote a book which his publishers, in order to give the author an exact idea of how it would look, made up into a dummy with the regular cover, but with blank pages. The proud author went to Chicago and called on one of his friends.

"George," said the author, putting the book open on the table, "so far as my acquaintance with literature goes this book is best suited of any for your mentality."

The other turned over the blank pages gravely. Finally he said: "Carr, after a somewhat careful examination of this work I am forced to the conclusion, without looking at the title page, that you are the author."

A Scotchman and his four children entered a fine fashionable restaurant in London. Sandy ordered a bottle of lemonade and five tumblers. The waiter brought them and stood some distance away to watch the proceedings. Sandy poured a little lemonade into each glass and then produced a large bag of pastries and gave each of the children one. The waiter did not like to see this, but in a high class restaurant and call the manager, who addressed Sandy thus:

"Do you know who I am?"

"No," replied Sandy.

"I'm the manager."

"Oh, are you?" said Sandy. "Then why the dickens is the ban no playing?"

Easy.

An incompetent servant had been discharged by her employer.

"Very well, mum," she said. "I'll go. But I'll be asking for a reference."

"A reference?" echoed the lady.

"What reference can I honestly give such a worthless girl as you?"

Bridge-bwidded.

"It's a civil thing I'm asking," she returned. "You kin say I lived wid you four months. That'll be reference enough, mum."—New Orleans Times Democrat.

H. could hardly keep his big dog from jumping through the window at the brute. No doubt this is the cow spoken of by campers as eating up the bread during the summer months.

"The Holy City" has been acclaimed by clergyman of every denomination as the most reverential and dramatically effective of all the Biblical plays. "Sit down and shut your mouth" was the high note struck at the Clark meeting at Lacombe. Possibly, if Duncan Marshall had suspended boss rule until the chairman had been given an opportunity to act, the patron desiring to submit a question would have been treated as a gentleman, which he is. "Shut your mouth" is no argument.
